

Dean Geribo

*Vice President, Corporate
Security & Business Resilience
Moderna Pharmaceuticals*

BEPP - SPECIAL ADVISOR

Mr. Geribo has led Moderna's Corporate Security Department, with overall responsibilities globally in the areas of physical and technical security, insider threat, global intelligence, brand protection, executive protection and aviation, and business resilience since 2020.

Before joining Moderna he served as Chief Security Officer at Alcon, where he managed the company's security portfolio across seventy-five countries and more than twenty manufacturing facilities globally.

Mr. Geribo also spent 9 years with Novartis, where he held various roles and responsibilities in the executive protection functions, middle and director level management roles at both regional and business unit levels.

Mr. Geribo holds a BS in Business and a Health Care Compliance Certification from Seton Hall's Center for Health & Pharmaceutical Law. He is also a former law enforcement professional and United States Marine, and sits on the Advisory Board of Directors for Base Operations in Washington D.C.